Street workers may walk

Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — As contract talks drag on, the possibility of a strike by street depathment workers is becoming likely...

In the past, I see no alternative but to walk," said Chuck Lewis, a Teamsters shop steward. "We went 22 months without a contract last time, it's been 16 months this time and i just doesn't appear to have an ending."

That contract, Lewis said, was "acceptable — it was approved by a majority of the men." But, it represented the "very least" the workers were willing to take.

When the aldermen voted in August, 4th Ward Alderman Dan Partney, chairman of the Negotiating Committee, said he and the committee had come up with "the best contract possible."

tract possible."

After the aldermen voted it down, Partney said his negotiating was over and from then on he would just present the wishes of the majority of the aldermen. He called a closed session of the City Council and, he said made the aldermen over the contract.

Partney would not comment after Tuesday's meeting except to say "negotiations are continuing."

Lewis said he believes there is probably no way to avoid a strike right now, but quickly said that was a personal opinion.

"Let me put it this way, as far as what most of the people think, they'll have to speak for themselves Talk to them."

Several other workers, who would not agreed to be quoted, said they will not back off from a strike. One said he had a 'belly off from a strike. One said he had a 'belly expensed to do whatever we have to do."

Seventh Ward Alderman Jeff Worthen, along with Partney, 3rd Ward Alderman Andy Timko and 5th Ward Alderman Lloyd Bailey, voted for the last contract.

"I just have to believe when our committee of the said of the said of the said was been ratified by the union that it is the best we're going to get," Worthen said. "I think you've got to go with it."

Neighbors want assurance closed tavern stays closed

By Mike Myers — Staff writer MADISON — About 50 West Madison residents who showed up at City Hall last night for a battle they had already won asked Mayor John Belicoff for assurances the war is also over. The residents showed up to oppose the renewal of Lolita Jenkins' liquor license for the former El Capalaro Lounge, 800 Jackson St. Jenkins withdrew her application Tuesday. "It's over with," Belicoff told the crowd. "There will not be any tavern there at that address." But the residents wanted assurance that another owner will only the staff of the staff o permanently ban any tavern in that area.

City Attorney Casper Nighohossian told the group that, since their neighborhood is zoned residential, any business that wished to open would have to apply for a special-use permit. That process, he said, would involve the Zoning board notifying the residents of the applied-for use and holding a public hearing on the permit. The decision of the Zoning Board, he said, would then go to the City Council for final approval.

"You all can show up, just like tonight, and you will be able to testify," Nighohossian said.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED Attorney At Law

Sometimes individuals who join a health club, are asked to sign a membership agreement which contains an "excupatory clause." A clause of this nature is designed to relieve the way of the use of its facilities and equipment. The question arises in these cases as to whether such a clause is enforceable. In one recent case, a may ploned a health club in Chicago and began using its facilities and equipment. The recent case, and point of the control of the clause contained within the membership agreement, as signed by the plaintiff, relieved the club of all itability for injury. The Court agreed. Eventually the case wound up on appeal, and the Appellate Court had to decide whether such a contract was valid. The Dourt noted at the cutsat that generally speaking a Court and under the court of th this rule is where the contract violates public policy. In the present case, the Court felt that the plaintiff's signature on the membership agreement was not obtained by fraud. Furthermore, the exculpatory clause was clear and explicit, it stated that each nighter bore the "sole risk" of the exculpatory clause was clear and explicit, it stated that each nighter bore the "sole risk" of the exculpatory clause was very familiar. A further factor in the Court's decision was that the plaintiff apparently was very familiar with this use of weight equipment, having had in stigition and experience in weight-lifting. For all of these reasons, the Appellate Court ruled that the exculpatory clause was enforceable, and therefore, the find the development of the plaintiffs is liability for the liquides sustained by the plaintiffs.

Editorials Don't shake over quakes

Why all the hysteria over Dec. 3?

Why not use a little common sense?
Although seismologists are casting almost unanimous doubt on the predictions of climatologist lben Browning, regarding his Dec. 3 earthquake predictions, there seem to be a few facts forgotten along the way that would cast further doubt on the whole issue.

Foremost, Browning himself said there is only a 50 percent chance of an earthquake happening during the 48-hour period on either side of Monday, Dec. 3 (yes, it would be a Monday). That also means a 50 percent chance it won't happen.

Additionally, the experts are unanimous in their contention that an earthquake could happen at any time. Why not prepare for an earthquake on Nov. 3? Dec. 10? Jan. 2, 1993?
Those dates could be pulled out of a hat, but they all have one thing in common — they lie in the future, just like Dec. 3.

School distriets who call off school, bosses who call off work and others who overreact are doing a true disservice to their constituencies. Stopping our way of life for ever a brief time on the assumption that something may happen is totally illogical.

The best thing to come out of the hysteria is a true focus on the importance of being prepared should a tremor hit. We live in a fault zone, and we shouldn't forget it. If insurance

Help Granite enjoy holiday

After being raked over the coals last year by those who felt they were being Grinches, city leaders are doing their darndest this year not to get accused of stinginess prior to this year's Christmas season.

Letters soliciting money for Christmas decorations were sent out in recent days by R C Bush, executive vice president of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, and Alan Orthals, economic development director for the city.

The proposed decorations would be banners suspended from brackets on about 250 street light poles in the downtown area and along the business districts of Nameoki, Johnson and Fehling roads.

The cost of each banner is estimated at $100, and the letters suggest donors offer to buy one or more sets.

The city opted not to put Christmas decorations up last year test of the proposed decorations and no merchants volunteered to foot the business discorations and has the continuation of the continuation of the continuation of the proposed continuation.

Nearby communities do it each year — look at Madison — so why shouldn't Granite City have a holiday display?

Community groups, merchants and anyone interested in how the public perceives this city should get on the bandwagon, and back this banner program.

No one should be able to say that Granite Citians do not care about Christmas.

Those wishing to contribute toward the purchase of the banners should contact the chamber at 376-6400.

Keep skateboarders out

We are glad to see Granite City councilmen elect to do nothing regarding more legislation of skateboarding in town. Still, we wish they could.

Recently the Legal and Legislative Committee of the City Council was asked to look into devising a plan to deal with skateboarding, other than an outright ban. The proposal came because of complaints from a local store owner that skateboarders were causing problems on his parking lot.

Although there are various questions as to what kind of enforcement action can be taken against skateboarders, whether they are on private or public property, there is little doubt in the minds of non-skateboarders hat the practice is unsafe, a nuisance and bound to stir up some kind of problem when they take to the streets (which they do), other people's business becomes involved. Something's got to give.

Although some have suggested that an alternative site for skateboarding be provided, such action would only regenerate the age-old question of liability. Who would pay for the broken kneeccaps?

Kids should find safer ways to amuse themselves.

A policeman makes news

An employee oversleeps and fails to show up for work. A friend at work calls the employee at home to ask why he's not at work. The employees says he feels like he's been run over by a truck. Not wanting to hassle with explanations to the boss, the employee asks the friend to pass along his intention to take a sick day. The friend does, and the boss is furious. "This time he's stepped over the line." the boss says. "This time I'm going to have to take official action."

List I me only the week of the me. the obsessays. This time the mean the me of the control page news?

Is it front page news?

Is it is it the employee is a Granite City police officer an everyday event, this week, with the case of patrolman Jerry Duncan.

You could defend the public complaint in court to stop a disciplinary hearing. But that would be only a half-hearted defense. Even when they get to court, employee-employer disputes seldom make more than an inside page.

So the only real defense is the fact the employee is a police officer. Police officers have been given the 'special trust and confidence' of their employer—the citizens of the city. When that "special trust and confidence" has been betrayed, all the citizens have been betrayed.

Police officers, therefore, must live their lives on at least a slightly higher plain than the rest of theworld. When they fall from that plain, the distance to the bottom is great and the injury to the officer will be severe.

Prefers Rep. Martin's stance

The plain simple fact is criminals know they can get away with many crimes by exploiting loopholes in the law, and the low percentage of being caught. They regard the criminal justice system with amusement. Perhaps it's time to end the laughter ter Consider the words of Rep. Lynn Martin, seeking election to the U.S. Senate. "Crime and punishment must be linked inex-offenders. The penalty disease offenders. The penalty disease offenders. The penalty disease of the crime and the penalty must be paid." Rep. Martin believes that the emphasis should be on the rights of victims of crime, that we have a right to be safe and secure in our homes and communities and that we should be especially tough on those who commit crime against the elderly. Rep. Martin understands that criminals may be victims of their surroundings and that rehability of their surroundings and the safety of society.

The couriers were treated to Mostaccioli, green beans, salad, bread and homemade ples. Bill Clark, left, received a safety award from Steve Lanter, president Lanter Courier Corp. Clark had had no accidents on his courier route for one week. The safety award is given on a regular basis.

Colonel's legend turns 100

ST. LOUIS — Sept. 3, 1990, marked the centennial birth of an American original — Col. Harland Sanders, Kentucky Fried Chicken's founding father.

Known as "the Colonel," an honorary title bestowed on him by a Kentucky governor in the 1930s, Sanders was a legendary figure. His white mustache and goatee and the white double-breasted suit and black string tes were his trademark.

Sanders, who died in 1980 at age 90, lived the life of an American success story. At an age when most people retire, he pioneered the quick service restaurant industry. His standards of food quality, service and cleanliness combined with value became the hallmarks of that industry, enabling it to grow worldwide, according to a company spokesman.

In 1956, at age 66, he faced financial ruin when his restaurant in the southern Kentucky an interstate highway. Confident of the quality of his fried chicken, Sanders devoted himself to the chicken business he had begun in 1952. With his blend of H herbs and spices and cooking process, the Colonel hit the road, uets literally one at a time.

"The Colonel was one of a kind," said Laurel Bush, who became the first St. Louis area Kentucky Fried Chicken franchisee in May 1962 with a store in Ferguson. He proudly displays "KFC 1" on his Missouri heense plate.

Today, there are nearly 5,000 Kentucky Fried Chicken outlets spread across the United States and more than 3,000 overseas in such markets as Japan. Australia, Mexico and Great Britain.

There are now 27 Kentucky Fried Chicken franchies owning Fried Chicken franchies owning politan area, including Granite City, Cahokia and East St. Louis. In 1939, some 1,500 employees served about 3.3 million, chickens, representing more than $40 million in sales.

In celebration of the Sanders centennial, the original Harland todally restored to its original condition by franchises John R. Neal. Visitors can see the original kitchen and eat in the dining room furnished as it was when Sanders opened the restaurant in the 1930s.

Red-hot 'White Palace' steams up screen

Staff writer

The pull of opposites attracting and the magnetism of sex are important, stimulating elements in the fine film "White-Palace" ("ex-"), which was shot in St. Louis and is based on the novel of the same title by St. Louisan Glenn Savan.

James Spader stars as Max Baron, a mildly sullen, upright continues to grieve over the death of his wife nearly two years after she was killed in an automobile accident. Baron is an measure.

Susan Sarandon stars as Nora

There is a splendid supporting cast that includes Kathy Bates, Eileen Brennan and Renee Tay-lor. Mexican director Luis Man-doki shows a talent for efficiency

The film portrays St. Louis as a very modern, progressive community. but does not hammer that idea home. There is not a jot of exterior scenery shots; most scenes are interior. The fact that such a good film was made here should bode well for other films to be done here in the near future.

said Birdsong, "It really came to the front of our minds as soon as we bent Wood River on Saturout that we played CM this early, but it's nice in a way. This is better than having a bunch of coast games early in the tournament.

Sports Complex, then Springfield High and Springfield Griffin play in the second semifinal. Granife City beat Alton 5-2 and 3-1 this year, with Birdsong getting three goals in the first game and Stephens scoring twice in the "Alton played us pretty lough and I know Springfield will have a good team." Birdsong said. "We beat them in the sectional two years ago and they had a mores in 1988). So they should have a bunch of seniors who have played together for a while."

Alton (1.9-1) beat Roxan 2-1.

have played together for a while. (19-91) beat Roxam 2-1 to win its regional Tuesday. Tim Schaberg is a hot scorer for the Redbirds: having scored all three of the team's post-senson goals in addition to one in Graniec City last week.

For Springfield (19-2-3), Bryce Bilycu has 35 goals this year and Damy Weiss has 26. Springfield Alton last week. Southeast defeated Springfield High 2-1 in the teams only regular-season meeting this year.

1975 U. S. Prepares To Celebrate Bicentennial Regency Auto Leasing Founded

In 1975 — twenty years after the formation of the Dempsey Adams Companies, Regency Leasing was formed.

Regency Leasing became the fourth Dempsey and Adams company. The first cars in the fleet were Mavericks and Muslangs. A special office was opened at 18th and Edison Avenue, later moved to the 3700 block of Nameoki Road.

At the time Regency Leasing was formed in 1975

- Gerald Ford was President and former Alforney General John Mitchell was found guilty of covering up the Watergate burglary.
- In San Francisco, police captured Patty Hearst and she was indicted for bank robbery.
- The first lemon menthal cigarettes were introduced
- "Foolish Pride" won the Kentucky Derby, Fran Tarkenton was voted NFL Player of the Year and Mohammed Ali knocked out Joe Frazier in the "Thrilla in Manilla."

In Granite City in 1975

- Paul Schuler was Mayor, Monroe Worthen was elected to his sixth term on the School Board which appointed George Moore as President.
- A new Plymouth Fury was priced at $4700 at Granite City Chrysier Plymouth, while a new Volkswagen could be purchased for $2999.
- Among the bargains Giant size Cheer was 99° at National, Banana Splits were 39° at the Dairy Queen, A & P teatured butter at 69° a pound, a washer and dryer sold for $389 at Central Hardware.
- The City Council approved plans to fund an overpass between West Granite and downtown.

Today 15 years after the birth of Regency Leasing

It has two offices — one in Chesterfield, Missouri and the other at 18th and Edison Avenue. The firm's custom leasing plan makes almost any make or model available to customers and its unique method of supply, delivery and maintenance at the customer's office or home is a Dempsey Adams service trademark.

We sincerely hope that we've contributed to the growth and better-ment of the community, to you and your family. We hope that we may continue to serve you in the years ahead and that you, the com-munity and Regency Leasing may continue to grow together.
